

A look at Joel's calendar promises a busy fall schedule. In addition to a full load of teaching, he is supervising three master's students as they write their theses and heading up the Study in Germany program for American students who will be joining us. He is leading seminars on Biblical sexual ethics in September and October and speaking at two conferences in October and November. During the year away, he was able to more or less complete the Colossians commentary he has been working on for five years, but there is still a lot of editing to be done before it can be sent off to the publisher.

I, Tatjana, will be returning to my part-time physical therapy job in mid-August. I'm grateful for how it provides a small portion of our finances as well as connecting me with the people of our town and I'm eager to see who God will be putting in my path through this special connection. The other ministry opportunity I am planning to resume is teaching German to refugees in our town in a weekly afternoon program. Through this I'm hoping to establish some personal contacts with refugees in my immediate neighborhood that I would like to get to know.

We appreciate all your prayers for us as we resume our ministry in Germany. Those prayers and your generous financial support make it possible.

In Christ,
